

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, January 5th.—Whether we like it or not, it is inevitable that much time will be taken up in the coming session talking about the threat of war and Canada's national defence policy.

It is quite possible that nothing much will be done about it. But the more likely event is that discussion will be made to those who feel Canada should at least have a modern nucleus of fighting equipment, especially in the air. More attention is almost certain to be paid to the defence of the East and West coasts.

There are those who take it for granted that Canada's position is so strong that we have no reason to be alarmed, even though the world's armament goes madly on. We are reminded of the strength of the British Commonwealth, of the British navy. Our confidant with the might and armament of the United States is also stressed. Who would attack Canada?

It would mean taking on the United Kingdom and the United States, which, combined, are perhaps the two most powerful nations in the world in resources if not in actual fighting equipment. Again, what enemies has Canada? Those who are to argue against doing anything in the coming session will be able to put up a strong case.

Canada's Armament.
There is, too, the idea that a good deal of Canada's strength lies in her careful avoidance of any military gestures. Canada has next to nothing in the way of war material. You can summarize our armament in one sentence. Two destroyers in action, two more ordered, seven fighting planes, five more ordered, a few light and other per centime aircraft, less than 4000 of a permanent militia, a non-permanent militia never organized but possessing no equipment to speak of. Practically no anti-aircraft guns.

People who have worked through this out say that it would cost 100 million dollars to give Canada six modern divisions of militia, with equipment, plus a small force of destroyers on each coast, and a 100 modern fighting aeroplanes. In addition there would be a heavy annual upkeep. At present the whole cost of the national defence department is about 20 million dollars a year.

Sure To Be Criticized.
No matter what policy the government works out and it may decide not to formulate anything definite until parliament has had time to mull over the matter—there will be critics and parties to criticize it. If nothing is done, the jingoes and imperialists will hold up our lack of armament as proof for their pacifist and unpreparedness tactics. If the government does the whole hog, and asks parliament to vote sufficient to create a small modern fighting machine for the defence of Canada, there will be a great outcry from other quarters. The government will be asked why, if it can so easily produce 100 millions for such a purpose, why it cannot find money for all, or start old age pensions at sixty, or build the terminal at Montreal, or half a dozen other things. And, in seeking to compromise, the government just does a few of the most obnoxious things, it will probably not please anybody.

No doubt the government's defence policy is being moulded with an eye to the sentiment of the Canadian people, and the world situation. If the latter grows more and more hostile, we may be forced upon a government which is essentially peaceful and realistic in its intentions. At the moment in Europe, it will be easier to resume our habitual friendly non-military attitude.

Probable Action.
Pending official forecast, I will expect that the defences of Halifax and Saint John, of the Pacific Coast, and of other strategic points will be strengthened, that coastal batteries will be increased, that anti-aircraft guns will be installed. The present nucleus of seven bombers and the outfit of five modern flying boats suggests that attention is to be paid to the aerial defence of Canada, which, the experts say, must come mainly from flying craft rather than from stationary gun. The equipment of the navy will be almost certainly receive some attention at the coming session. The appropriations for the Minister of National Defence and his staff will be increased. My own guess would be that fleets of destroyers will not be purchased, although as against this there has been at least one dispatch from

Local News Items

London which reports this to be on the government agenda.

It is a sad commentary on world developments when a country naturally so friendly and pacific as Canada has to be even considering such things. We have no quarrel with anyone.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. J. DESMIT

The people of Strathmore and district were deeply grieved when word came of the very sudden passing of Mrs. Mary Desmit, beloved wife of Mr. Joe Desmit, Tuesday, January 5th at her home.

Possessed of an exceptionally kind and generous nature, Mrs. Desmit gave freely of her goods and services and many a friend will miss her cheerful visits and sincere interest. She was a devoted mother and a devoted wife. The late Mrs. Desmit was born in Marengo, Belgium, 50 years ago. The family came to Strathmore in 1912 and resided there for a number of years in the house now occupied by Mr. McKeen during which time Mrs. Desmit was employed as carpenter for the town. About 15 years ago the family purchased a farm some 10 miles east of Strathmore, where they have since resided.

Left to mourn the loss are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. A. Blais and two sons, Joe and Albert.

Four children predeceased her, two in Belgium and two in Strathmore. Mr. Desmit was an uncle of the late Mr. Joe Van Tighem.

The funeral will be held Friday morning from Sacred Heart Church where Requiem Mass will be sung, the Rev. Father Connan conducting the service. Church 8 c. Funeral Directors in charge.

The Pall Bearers are Arthur Blais, J. Van Tighem, J. Van Bavel, W. Koster, J. Verreire.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange
Director, Research Department, Seale Grain Company, Ltd.

Some countries have so many people they cannot grow enough wheat for all.
Some countries have so much land that they have wheat to sell.
Those nations which are obliged to buy wheat are called "wheat importing countries," while those which have wheat to sell are called "wheat exporting countries."

This amount of 520 million is about 10 per cent of the world's total annual production.
Canada is the largest wheat exporting country, selling overseas annually a little more than 200 million bushels. Great Britain is the largest importing country, buying about 190 million bushels each year.

The wheat grown on our Canadian Prairies largely travels abroad to 22 different countries. It would be an interesting exercise if boys and girls would make a list—then mark them on a map of the 72 foreign countries which buy the wheat from our parents and neighbors grow.
It would be still more interesting if students would note the products or goods which each of these foreign countries sells to Canada and to other nations, which sales enable them to purchase Canadian wheat.

Prices have tended to be raised by the fact that the wheat crop in 1936 was the smallest since 1914. Demand for wheat from Great Britain falling off as price increases—Weekly shipments of Canadian wheat have slightly declined—Crop prospects in Italy improved—India receives good rains for germination.

Mr. Platt returned last week from a very enjoyable visit with her sister in Victoria.

The Convention of School Trustees will be held in Edmonton, Feb. 2, 3, 4, 5.

WEDDINGS

DAVIDSON - SMITH

In Calgary Christmas Eve, the Rev. Rex Brown officiating, the marriage of James Robertson Davidson, eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Davidson and Miss Gertrude Alison Smith, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alison Smith of Medicine Hat was solemnized.

Mr. Davidson's father was for many years editor of the Morning Alberta (Calgary) and his grandfather was the late Dr. Jas. Robertson, pioneer Presbyterian missionary, whose field was named Canada West of the Great Lakes. Mr. Davidson is engaged as teacher of Mathematics in the Medicine Hat Collegiate. Mrs. Davidson is a graduate in law of Toronto University.

The happy couple will reside in Medicine Hat and their many friends will unite in wishing them a long and very happy wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, Sr. have resided for the past several years in The Uplands, Victoria.

NAMAKA

Miss Marjorie Wooster was the guest of Mrs. C. Mackie over the week end.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. Evans will regret to learn of the death of their infant son on Tuesday or last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Laurie and daughter of High River were visitors in the district over the New Year.

SCHOOL FAIR

The diploma awarded annually by the Department of Education and of Agriculture for the best exhibit at the School Fair go to Orange Valley School and to Glencairn School respectively.

The winners of the Short Course Scholarships awarded by the Department of Agriculture to the individual pupil winning the greatest number of points in agricultural classes are Viola Watson of Canamail School and Grace Coanor of Glencairn School.

If any teacher has not yet received a provisional First List for the 1937 year, there will also be obtained by applying to the Secretary.

NEW YEAR'S DANCE

The New Year's Eve dance was as usual an outstanding success. This occasion has become a "let's get together and have a good time" event, and from all reports, no one was disappointed. Many parties attending stayed until the "last drop was hung" and made merry after that by joining one of the numerous "breakfast groups" held next morning. J. A. French was well "it up". He was the lucky winner of the lamp given by the Strathmore Curling Club. From now on he will burn the candle at both ends.

TREES AVAILABLE FOR FARMERS
With reference to the all-important function of tree planting in Alberta, it was learned in an interview given by the Hon. C. C. Ross, that certain types of trees were available to farmers for transplanting and could be secured for this purpose on application to the Forestry Division of the Department.

Available for planting in the spring of 1937, will be limited quantities of white spruce, jack pine, green ash and elm. There will also be a small number of bur oak and Siberian larch with which the Forest Service has been experimenting successfully and of which a few may be given out for trial. In addition to these a large number of lodgepole pine and Scotch pine seedlings are available for distribution. These trees are recommended for planting in this province.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

—(10)—

By H. G. L. Strange
Director "Crop Testing Plant"

A Scotchman made perhaps the greatest gift ever sent to Western Canada and received nothing in return.

This refers to the introduction into Canada and the West of the famous Red Fife wheat, which was not only of superlative quality itself, but also is one of the parents of Marquis, Ideal, Garret, Thelander and other good varieties.

It appears that in 1842 David Fife of the township of Otonabee, Canada West, (now Ontario) asked a friend in Glasgow, Scotland, to send him a little wheat. This Scottish friend took a small quantity from a cargo ship which had just arrived from Dundee. David Fife received this and needed it, but only three ears ripened. These were carefully preserved and seeded again and proved to be a wonderful wheat, which was soon given the name of Red Fife.

Red Fife was imported into Manitoba about 1870, and first sown of wheat from Western Canada, made in 1876, consisted entirely of Red Fife grain established the high reputation of Canadian wheat on the world's markets.

David Fife made little or nothing out of his selection and the name of his Scottish friend who made the valuable gift to us is not even known.

Following factors have tended to increase Fife wheat's popularity in the southern hemisphere lowers the quality and quantity and delays the movement of new wheat.

Slows conversion of Russia's inefficient and good precipitation needed. Italian wheat production for 1936 reported as 14,000,000 bushels compared with 24,000,000 in 1925.

Favorable factors have tended to lower prices—Large U.S. winter wheat acreage indicated, with production slightly over 400 million—Italian crop and possible crop larger in 1936 than in 1935—U.S. Department of Agriculture reports ample wheat supplies during present crop year.

Report of considerable surplus of Turkish wheat, barley and corn for export this season.

—(10)—

ADVOCATES CROP INSURANCE

Dr. William Allen, professor of farm management at the University of Saskatchewan, advocated a worldwide and reasonable form of crop insurance for western farmers before the Turgeon Royal Order Commission. He suggested that, since wheat should be made to minimize price fluctuations of products and intimated that the Bank of Canada could play a major part in making agriculture to the individual farmer a business. Dr. Allen said a guaranteed price of 90c a bushel for wheat would cost too much and be estimated such a figure would have required 100 million of the national debt. The price brought by the sale of wheat to the farmers of the west in the six years 1930 to 1936.

USE PHOSPHATE

ROCK DEPOSITS

Out of Canada's little known but valuable deposits of phosphate rock located near Hutchinson, Que., chemists have produced a cleaning compound which few housewives do not number among their everyday requirements. The compound, tri-sodium phosphate, forms the basis of numerous proprietary washing preparations on the market. It is an excellent example of what the chemist has done to help out around the house and to ease the burden of the housewife. It is available in Canada from various sources, such as in various industries. The C.H.L. has.

NEW YEAR DAY BONSPIEL

11 kids entered the Bonspiel held in Strathmore New Year's Day, providing keen competition and fun galore. John Taylor's rink won first place. The consolation is yet being contested.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should keep out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not doing duty, your food doesn't digest. It just drops in the bowels, and turns up your stomach. You get constipated, flatulent, nervous, and you would feel just as you do now. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes three good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing every day, and make you make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a hundred but have no side effects. In them, ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Beware of cheap imitations, too, etc.

NEW MINISTER OF LANDS AND MINES

Hon. C. C. Ross has resigned and Hon. N. E. Tanner has been sworn in as Minister of Lands and Mines. Mr. Ross paid the following tribute to his successor: "I would like to say to the people of Alberta and those interested in the natural resources of this Province, that I feel sure Mr. Tanner will be an efficient and conscientious public servant. I could not have asked for a more capable successor."
